Youth take action on climate change

Edmonton Journal (Alberta)

January 30, 2019 Wednesday

Early Edition

Copyright 2019 Edmonton Journal All Rights Reserved

Section: EDITORIAL; Pg. A8

Length: 181 words

Byline: Michael Kalmanovitch,, Edmonton Journal

Dateline: Edmonton

Body

As I write, climate change is stealing any level of a future that is safe or familiar for our younger generation. My generation has robbed that gift from them.

But youth recognize that if they do not demand change now from the people, businesses, institutions, and governments that are screwing over their future there will be dire consequences as in, a biosphere collapse.

Climate collapse has subtle but real mental health consequences.

Across Europe and elsewhere, youth are taking to the streets as part of the #ClimateStrike, #FridaysFor-Future, and #SchoolStrike-4Climate. Please support and encourage your children and students to engage in this movement that may help mobilize effective and immediate action to mitigate the consequences of our past and present actions.

The purpose of our education system is to help young people to become mature and thinking citizens. When the youth become involved in movements like this, they are proving that they are.

Edmonton youth will be stirring soon.

Michael Kalmanovitch,

Edmonton !@COPYRIGHT=© 2019 Postmedia Network Inc. All rights reserved.

Load-Date: January 30, 2019

End of Document